Tired of the same old tourist traps? Whether you're a visitor or a local looking for something different, Virginia Off the Beaten Path® shows you the Old Dominion you never knew existed. Relax in Spa Min-Rale with products inspired by Virginia's own minerals and indigenous botanicals; visit the Trapezium House, a home built with no parallel walls or right angles; or go on a soapbox derby run down Mt. Trashmore. If you've "been there, done that" one too many times, get off the main road and venture Off the Beaten Path.

Judy Colbert travels frequently in Virginia and its neighboring states, searching for the unique and unusual. An award-winning author and photographer, Judy has had articles and photos appear in Washingtonian, McCall's, USA Today, AAA World, and more than 500 other publications. Judy has spoken about travel on hundreds of radio and television shows including Good Morning, America. In 1991 she was honored as Travel Writer of the Year by the Maryland Office of Tourism.Â

While this was generally a good reference, we found some errors that proved to be costly in time, such as a wrong address that led us to the wrong end of town, and too late then to see the original Tiffany windows we were looking for. Also, the text is arranged in counties, but there is no map on the county page to know just where that county was, so we didn't know if we were in the area or not. Poorly arranged.

I bought this book for a friend retiring to Virginia, and it is a lot of interesting sites, organized by area, that one might overlook if just going by the maps. He is looking forward to getting to know his new area, and this appears to be a good addition to his guide books and information.
