Creatures of Greek Mythology was quite an adventure for me as I explored each deity through research as well as through pen and ink. When I began this project I had been attending a college Mythology course. Inspired by our class readings I had begun drawing Medusa for entertainment; I do love to draw! When my children saw the drawing, they commented how it looked like the page out of a coloring book; that's when the wheels began turning and this project truly began. I started drawing each creature by hand and doing further collective research on each mythological deity. My children, ages 9 and 10 at the time, were anxious for each character to be finished so that I could run copies for them to color. Seeing their excitement and enjoyment in coloring my work was fuel for me to keep going with the project. Now, almost a year later, I still see the impact that my book has on them. When they recently watched the newer version of Clash of the Titans I heard them commenting on the characters, mentioning cool little facts that they remembered from my book! I thought that was pretty awesome; I love knowing that they enjoyed coloring in the book AND that they learned something from it. I hope you all will enjoy my book just as much as we have and I look forward to reading your feedback and reviews.~ I do plan to do a revised edition as soon as I finish my current projects (hoping to debut in 2016). In the revised edition I would like to include more creatures, as well as the Gods and Goddesses of Greek mythology.

Davina Rush was born on July 17, 1978 in Northwest Florida, growing up in the small bay-side town of Choctaw Beach. As an adult, Davina lived in Springfield, Massachusetts and later in Chattanooga, Tennessee, where she attended college, majoring in Art education and Literature. She now resides with her family on the beautiful emerald coast of Northwest Florida, just across the bay from her hometown. She enjoys gardening, open markets, cooking, reading, hiking, boating, camping, writing and art of all sorts. She runs a small business in her local town and is a devoted mother to her two daughters.-As an artist and writer, Davina's main career concentrations are in the field of creating educational coloring books, journals~ and fictional novels. She has created and published a small collection of unique, entertaining and educational coloring books, with plans to continue adding many more in the future. These titles currently include "The Creatures of Greek Mythology", "The Creatures of Classic Horror" and "Famous Painters in Art History". Each book has been hand-illustrated by Davina (no computer graphics), with fun pictures to color and lots of interesting information on each artistic presentation.~ -Davina is very busy in her creative endeavors, but she always enjoys hearing from those who enjoy and appreciate her work. This book is wonderful. I teach Greek mythology, and these are perfect. The drawings are beautiful, They give enough detail, but they are not complicated or intricate. Great for illustrations and great to color. The only disappointing thing is that the thickness of the book is misleading. Each picture is actually presented twice. So I thought I was getting a wider variety of illustrations than I was. Since I like it so much, it's not worth taking a star off, but I'd take off half, if I could. Overall, I still definitely recommend.

I love the variety of coloring pages.

Beautiful pictures and has some information.

Grandson loved it

Beautiful drawings of the creepier creatures of Greek mythology. Perfect for the discriminating 6th grader looking to become acquainted with the mythical beasts of the past. The book offers just enough information to whet the appetite.

Due to a comment made a while back, the duplicate pictures were removed at the beginning of this year and should not be in any books purchased from this point forward, though they would have still been in there during Christmas. The pictures themselves are nicely detailed, but i do regret that i didn't add more detail to their backgrounds. In the future I plan to continue my focus on the main image, while also adding a more detailed background. It's definitely been a work in progress as this was my very first publication and I would like to publish a much revised version in the future. I would recommend trying my later publications, "Creatures of Classic Horror" or "Famous Painters in Art History". I feel like these have a little more to offer, though I am always evolving in this craft and plan to make my next book even better... taking into consideration all comments And suggestions :-)
Thank you for the feedback. I hope this helps.

I own all three of her Books ãfÃ ã Å,Ã ÆœÃ â Ñ I'm happy with all of them. You won't be disappointed. ãfÃ Å“Ã Å'She's also a really nice Person.

Being 34 myself I find this coloring book to be appropriate for all ages, surprisingly packed full of information that I didn't even know. I will enjoy reading over the pages and giving additional books as gifts. There are many creatures of Greek Mythology with information prior to the color-able pages and the color-able pages again more then 1/2 way through the book if you wish not to color on the 1st pages and keep it more of a keep sake. I highly recommend this coloring book, and for the price you can't go wrong!
