Love And Death In The Kingdom Of Swaziland

Synopsis

Sister Diane Dalle Molle and Sister Barbara Staley arrived in Swaziland at the height of an HIV epidemic that today afflicts a third of the population. Under extremely difficult conditions in the harsh, semi-arid outback, they managed to establish a clinic, care for over 100 orphans, install a municipal-scale water system, and in so many ways achieve the impossible. This is the story of their work, the people they work with, and a country that is on the brink of extinction.

I use it every semester with my class. Inspirational and real. A vivid portrayal of life, death and love in the Kingdom of Swaziland

This small book will open your eyes to a world that we sometimes would turn from. The story of the religious sisters, who like many of those who pioneered healthcare in our own country, against many obstacles held true to their faith and cared for people with little bringing them hope and in some cases a new chance at life.

It gets a tad preachy and the ending leaves you unresolved. Otherwise this is a stunning and mind blowing book. Read it.

In an age of ipods, ipads, mobile phones and laptops, there are still American women willing to sacrifice every comfort to give of themselves for others. What a startling picture the author presents - what a glowing tribute to selfless dedication!

We need to learn more of the world's needs and the brave people who sacrifice and commit to help relieve suffering.

I loved this book. It was so interesting and exciting. Who ever knew nuns were so brave? Who ever knew anything about Swaziland? I was so disappointed when I got to the end. I wanted to read more. You don't have to be Catholic to like this book. You just have to be human.

Those sisters are awesome!!

THIS WAS AN EXCELLENT TRUE STORY ABOUT THE WORK OF THE MISSIONARY SISTERS OF THE SACRED HEART IN THEIR MISSION IN SWAZILAND. IT GAVE ME A MUCH BETTER UNDERSTANDING OF WHAT THESE PEOPLE THEY ARE HELPING ARE GOING THROUGH. I WOULD RECOMMEND IT TO EVERYONE TO READ IT.
