Praise "I bought the "I Wrote This For You" book in actual, real-life paperback and it soothes my soul. Buy it if you can." - Laura Prudom (News Editor for Variety) "One of the most beautiful things I have ever read. Ever." - BT (Grammy Nominated Composer and Technologist) "This is me. This is you. This is us. This is every human being, past and present, old and young, of every ethnicity, race and faith. Our every complex human emotion translated into words. Someone knows and someone understands. This is the essence of what it truly means to be human." - Ethar El-Katatney (CNN African Journalist Of The Year, award-winning journalist, blogger and author) "The magnificent beauty of I Wrote This For You is quite simply this: the book is elegantly incomplete without you. I wrote this for you. I wrote this for you and only you. Everyone else who reads it, doesn't get it." Started 2007, I Wrote This For You is an acclaimed exploration of hauntingly beautiful words, photography and emotion that's unique to each person that reads it. This book gathers together nearly 200 of the most beautiful entries into four distinct chapters; Sun, Moon, Stars, Rain. Together with several new and exclusive entries that don't appear anywhere else, each chapter of I Wrote This For You focuses on a different facet of life, love, loss, beginnings and endings.

Please find this is the pen name for poet Iain S. I read to my grandfather from this book at the hospital for days. I bookmarked passages that I loved with torn up tissue papers because I couldn't stand to leave his side. We took breaks from the heartfelt, 20 page letter his daughter (my aunt) had sent him to beg him to hold on. She is in prison in another state, and she couldn't see her father in his last days. She wrote about forgiveness, on God and love and compassion, and on my grandfather's strength and love for us all. On our love for him back. He never responded, but I know he heard me read him this. I know he heard her talking to him on the phone. I know he heard me whisper in his ear, late at night and long after everyone else had fallen asleep, "You're okay. Thank you. I'm sorry. You've been so brave. Your sister is coming. Soon you won't have to hold on any more. I'm so sorry. I love you. I promise to take care of everyone. I promise everyone is going to be okay. Please hold on a little longer. I love you..." When they finally took off all the tubes, he didn't stir much as his blood pressure slowly but steadily dropped. He didn't open his eyes, but... I know he heard his family, all crowding around to show how much they love him. I know he heard us singing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" as his heart rate slowed. I read this book again on the plane ride home. I can't count how many times I've read it since.... If you didn't like the book, it's because you're not the one he wrote it for. Give it to someone very good poems, a bit on the dark side but nothing you need to keep away from your teenager. My 14yo daughter loves it and three of her friend have read her copy also. I've purchased more from this author from , I recommend it!

There are no words to describe this book. Everything matters, everything is true, all the feelings are the same...this is very well written and with the photography its just awesome

Arrived quickly and just as described.

I really enjoyed this book. Highly recommend

I thought it was a great little poem book, even though im not usually a poem reader the back cover drew me in. Its an easy read, and I would suggest it to any pre-teen or adult reader

Love, love, love it!
