Author Donna Jones Carver first conceived the idea of workbooks based on her own experience as a ballet teacher. Wanting to give her students a broader base in ballet, she created lesson plans that formed the basis for Workbooks III, IV and V. Over ten years went into researching, compiling and writing the background materials presented in these workbooks. Carver's many years in ballet, as a student, professional performer, teacher, company director, designer and costumer, lends credibility to this effective series of ballet workbooks. Sally Weatherford, co-author, has professional experience in publications. She also adds her academic background in education, weaving a perfect blend of fun and education to the series. Together, this team has produced workbooks that are educationally solid, technically correct and attractively presented.

These are fabulous for any age testing or quizzes when it comes to Ballet... the whole series offers a decent addition to class work.
