Grasshopper, who wants to go on a journey, sets out down the road, meeting animals who are too busy with their own activities to enjoy the sights and sounds of nature. PW called this I Can Read book a "triumph with its big print and graphic pictures in soft pastels." Copyright 1986 Reed Business Information, Inc.

This is a fantastic book!! Grasshopper has a strong sense of self and is not deterred or ruffled by the peer pressure or the overreaching overtures of his new "friends". He is polite and calm and friendly throughout. Grasshopper replies to a few bossy butterflies who have decided that they want grasshopper to meet them at the same place and time every day FOREVER to talk about the same things over and over, FOREVER. "No, said grasshopper. I am sorry but I will not be here. I will be moving on. I will be doing new things. That is too bad,said the butterflies, We will miss you. Grasshopper, do you really do something different every day of your life?" "Always, said grasshopper. Always and always."

My grandson was struggling with reading until his teacher at school recommended this Author. He has improved his reading a great deal because of his interest in this and other books such as the Frog and Toad series by Arnold Lobel.

Super cute book! My six year old loved it. There was one chapter that involved bullying and some not nice words, at least for our liking. But we discussed this and how it wasn't nice to call anyone names. Overall good and funny book.

This is an excellent book for children learning to read. They get the satisfaction of doing it themselves. Although the book may look difficult and says it has a grade 2 level, I use it to encourage the idea of reading 'chapter books' for the kids I teach. The stories are timeless and fun.

my son loves these books. it's always nice to get a series. he is on the autism spectrum and has struggled with reading so it's extra special that he was asking for the grasshopper book and enjoys reading the series!

Kids like to read, enjoyed the story.

Great for beginner readers.

My son came home from school and said that he had to have this book. He loved reading it at school and found it funny. He loved reading it to his other brother and me too :-)
